Examination of Application #10/821,818

1. Claims 1-40 of application 10/821,818, filed on 4-April-2004, are pending in the application. This communication is in response to the amendment received on 22-August-2007. The remarks presented in regard to the office action previously provided by the original examiner are duly noted, and the amendments provided by Applicant are accepted by the current Examiner, except for the rejection noted below.

Claim Rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:
Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefore, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2.1 Claims 14-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The invention claims a computer program product for designing a desired fold line for a non-crushable sheet of material.

>Descriptive material can be characterized as either “functional descriptive material” or “nonfunctional descriptive material.” In this context, “functional descriptive material” consists of data structures and computer programs which impart functionality when employed as a computer component. (The definition of “data structure” is “a physical or logical relationship among data elements, designed to support specific data manipulation functions.” The New IEEE Standard Dictionary of Electrical and Electronics Terms 308 (5th ed. 1993).) “Nonfunctional descriptive material” includes but is not limited to music, literary works, and a compilation or mere arrangement of data.

In re Application of: Durney et al.

In view of the aforementioned requirement, the Examiner respectfully contends that the claim language of claims 14-26 do not claim a practical application, that language claiming a computer-readable medium having software instructions for designing a desired fold line for a non-crushable sheet of material. The medium holding instructions is determined to recite data embodied on a computer-readable medium. However, the data does not impart functionality to either the data as claimed or to the computer. As such, the claimed invention recites non-functional descriptive material, i.e., mere data. Non-functional descriptive material is merely carried on the medium, it is not structurally and functionally interrelated to the medium, and thereby does not manipulate, or execute, appropriate subject matter, and thus cannot constitute a statutory process (MPEP Section 2106).

Allowed Claims

3. Claims 1-40 are deemed allowable over the prior art of record at this time, pending resolution of any rejections noted above, because the prior art does not specifically claim the present method for designing a desired fold line for a non-crushable sheet of material.

Response Guidelines

4. A shortened statutory period for response to this action is set to expire 3 (three) months and 0 (zero) days from the date of this letter. Failure to respond within the period for response will cause the application to become abandoned (see MPEP 710.02, 710.02(b)).
